EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Hello my friends !!!!

The 1st chapter of the of 365-page book has concluded. We began the year with blessings and celebrations in our offices. Our personal lives too were full of love and laughter and possible uncertainty of the future. Remember you are not alone. As we all take a step forward, it is normal to be unsure of the future.

A New Month comes 12 times a year, so you have lots of occasions to remind yourself and your friends the good things in life. Surround yourself with people you love.

Do you see an opportunity to start doing something exciting? Something you've never tried before. If you don't, you need to at least try it. It may change your life.

I take this opportunity to welcome Annya to the US.LK Group news letter. I have no doubt she will add value. Here is wishing her all the very best .

PLANNING TO VISIT...

AUSTRALIA?

By Deirdre Mendis
Australian Migration Consultants

Whether you're looking for an adventure atop rugged mountain peaks or a relaxing getaway on the soft sandy beaches, there's nothing like a holiday in Australia.

With diverse landscapes, vibrant events and unique wildlife, Australia is a place of endless opportunity. You can snorkel beside whale sharks, taste incredible wine and learn from the intense wisdom of the world's oldest living culture. From island camping to rooftop cocktails, you'll find countless unforgettable activities in Australia.

Australia is globally famous for its natural wonders, wide-open spaces, beaches, deserts, "The Bush", and "The Outback". Australia is one of the world's most highly urbanised countries; it's well known for its attractive cities such as Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, and Perth. There are many activities and sites that can be visited which will make your trip memorable and leave you breathless.

Advice on when to visit Australia can be confusing; the country has four clearly defined seasons, but its size means that even within them, the weather can vary considerably. And remember: the north is closer to the equator than the south, meaning it's warmer.

Travelling in Australia can be safe and easy, and planning ahead will help you make the most of your holiday. With its super-cool cities, endless coastline and extraordinary wildlife, Australia has all the elements needed for a superb vacation. With so much to see and do, planning a trip to Australia can be overwhelming.

Sydney has iconic landmarks and a lively food scene, as well as beaches, islands and mountains only minutes away from the city. Whether you are excited to climb the Sydney Harbour Bridge, spend a weekend at Hunter's Valley or spend an afternoon in the Blue Mountains, Sydney has something for everyone – city lovers, foodies and nature geeks and many more.

Brisbane is perfect for culture-lovers with its modern galleries, festivals & the open-air vibe. Ones who love to explore adventures can paddle-board or kayak on the river, rock climb at Kangaroo Point Cliffs or visit Moreton Island, which offers snorkeling, diving, surfing and even sand-boarding. Brisbane is also a base for exploring the Great Barrier Reef, which can be reached in around four hours.

Melbourne – Australia's coolest city, is full of colorful street art and hipster coffee shops. It is also home to the National Gallery of Victoria as well as many more small galleries. It is the perfect escape for art-lovers. Foodies will not be disappointed either. The city boasts a sundry range of restaurants, drinking spots and markets. If you are planning to drive the Great Ocean Road, the starting point is an hour and a half from the centre of Melbourne – making it a convenient centre of operations.

Adelaide is best known for its lively arts and music festivals. WOMAdelaide and the Adelaide Fringe are some of the topmost events. Next best to lively arts is a sip of great wine. Adelaide is one of Australia's top wine regions, the Adelaide Hills, on the doorstep, is an ideal site for wine lovers. Nearby you can also find Kangaroo Island – a retreat for wildlife where you can see many of the country's endemic species – makes the perfect day trip.

WORK FROM HOME, THE GOALS ARE SIMPLE: SAFETY AND SECURITY

By Praveen Nair
Thomas Peer Solutions

Keep your computer protected like you protect yourself!

Most companies invest greatly on security infrastructure in the form of;

- Next Gen Firewalls for network layer protection and intrusion detection.
- Endpoint Security on servers, desktops and laptops to protect from viruses, trojans and malware.
- Agent software that locks down infected devices, data loss prevention rules that prevents confidential data from leaving corporate machines and so on.

At home, it is quite hard to provide that level of protection, but leaving a computer vulnerable when there is corporate data stored in it renders a huge risk, because if they get stolen or destroyed, it'll be your neck on the chopping block.

To prevent anything like that from happening, it is vital that you make sure of the following:

Every day before connecting to the corporate VPN, you should make sure to check that the antivirus software is running. You can see the respective icon on the task bar if its loaded and working. The VPN connection should be terminated once your work has been completed, else it leaves an easy unprotected path for any malicious traffic to cross over to your corporate network. Visiting sites providing free movies and shows (Putlocker, GoMovies etc) brings another big risk to the table as these are loaded with malware which could be embedded with zero day vulnerabilities that your corporate AV hasn't been updated to protect yet.

So avoid checking into these sites on your corporate laptop. Keep Windows updated as you don't have a corporate Windows Update Server doing all the hard work for you anymore. Protecting the computer itself won't help if an attacker connects to your Wi-Fi or takes up residence inside your router. Anyone who does that can intercept everything you send or enter online, including passwords for remote access or corporate mail. Therefore, it is imperative to secure your wireless network with a minimum of WPA2 encryption and a strong password. When it comes to passwords, we all know the Golden Rule:

“Passwords are like underwear: Change it very often and don't share it with strangers.”

Use corporate services for e-mail, messaging, and all other work

Your company most likely has a set of IT services that employees use, such as Microsoft Office 365, Sharepoint, a corporate messenger like Teams or Slack. Those tools are secured by the IT team but from the security guy's perspective, "The weakest link in the chain is the User".

Don't be that "User" as sometimes a malicious – and highly convincing – message can sneak into corporate mail.

This is especially relevant to working remotely, because the amount of digital communications increases sharply when people aren't in office. Therefore, read messages carefully and don't rush to respond to them. If someone urgently needs an important document or demands immediate payment of an invoice, double-check the someone is who they claim to be. Don't be afraid to call the other party for clarification, or confirm the action one more time with your boss.

Last but not least, don't neglect your health and well-being. If you work on a laptop, lounging on the couch with it might seem like a great idea. But your back won't thank you in the long run, so try to find yourself a desk and a comfortable office-type chair.

Make sure the room is well-lit. If the lighting is poor, use a lamp to prevent eye strain.

And don't forget the health basics: periodically stand up, stretch your legs, drink water, get plenty of sleep, and don't skip meals.

INTRODUCING...

CREATIVITY BOARDS AT YOUR SBU!

It's time to display your talents & win a prize!!!

As a part of the "Talent Search" we have proposed the management to have "A Creative Board" in each of our SBU's to showcase the hidden talents of our own colleagues.

Be it written material, poetry, photography, art or any other, feel free to put them up in the "Creative Board" at your workplace.

Selected pieces of work will be recognized by the Editorial Panel & will be featured on the Group newsletter as well as on all Group social media platforms. All your creativity will be also recognized annually at the US.LK Awards Program!

Let's wear our Creative Hats!!!

Employee Q & A Column

ASK US!

When it comes to keeping employees engaged, one of the most important steps companies can take is to foster meaningful connections between co-workers.

The US.LK editorial board is launching a new Q&A column – “Ask US!” – and we want to hear your questions. If you’re seeking advice on a personal or professional issue, please submit your question to contact@us.lk

We will answer these on a rolling basis, so be on the lookout for an upcoming “Ask US!” in the Employee Q&A section of US.LK Newsletter.

Q: I feel nervous and stammer when about to do a presentation at office. What should I do to overcome the same?

A: Practice. Naturally, you'll want to rehearse your presentation multiple times. While it can be difficult for those with busy schedules to spare time to practice, it's essential if you want to deliver a stimulating presentation. If you really want to sound great, write out your speech rather than taking chances winging it.

Q: I am finding it difficult to keep my staff motivated. Any advice would surely help!

A: Your employees spend a large amount of time of their lives working in the office. So try to make the office look as friendly and appealing as possible. Also a little competition among the employees would not hurt. A competitive environment is a productive environment. Encourage employees to participate in competitions or challenges as it is healthy and may actually lead to increased camaraderie. Friendly competition amongst teams helps with employee engagement and employee participation.
